FACES FIRING SQUAD

SIX MURDERERS ARE EXECUTED

Firing Squad, Gas and Chair Used in Four States To Kill Slayers.

UTAH MAN FACES GUNS

Strapped to Chair at Prison and Shot at Dawn by Squad of Riflemen.

By the Associated Press.

The law in four states took the lives of six murderers last night and today by three different methods—the firing squad, the lethal gas chamber and the electric chair.

After a six-year fight to escape the death penalty for slaying his wife, her mother and foster father, 26-year-old Delbert Green was strapped to a chair at Salt Lake City and shot by a squad of riflemen.

At Florence, Ariz., 26-year-old Frank Rasmussen died in the gas chamber firmly contending his father, not he, killed a fellow ranch worker.

The electric chair at Huntsville, Tex., claimed a white man and two Negro brothers. Grady Warren, white, maintained he was innocent of a holdup slaying. Mack and Oscar Brown blamed each other, officials said, for the murder for which they were condemned.

John Collins, 27, who was married after his conviction, was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y., for a tavern hold-up slaying.

By the Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 10.—Delbert Green, 26-year-old slayer of three, was shot to death at dawn today by a firing squad concealed behind a canvas screen at the Utah state penitentiary.

Strapped into a crude frame chair with his back against the prison wall, the pale murderer was executed by five riflemen who fired some 20 paces away. One of the weapons was loaded with a blank cartridge.

Attending physicians pronounced Green dead immediately.

The other prisoners demonstrated as Warden R. E. Davis expected they would, when the gunfire echoed inside the prison walls. Shouts and moans went up from the cell blocks. Prisoners beat on their bars and kicked their iron doors.

When the outcry started, guards hurried to their places. The tumult continued, but prison authorities kept the situation under control.

Green was silent and gave no sign of emotion as he walked to the death chair with half a dozen friends. He was hooded in black and wore a white sweatshirt and white duck trousers.

Green swore to the last that he would be executing him for a crime he could not remember—the domestic murder of his 18-year-old wife, her mother and foster father, Jan. 4, 1930.

Utah law permits the condemned to choose between bullets and hanging, but Green didn't care. The state specified a firing squad. It's cheaper.

DETRICK SAYS NO AID FOR ONE ROOM SCHOOLS

Marion Township Decision Announced by State Education Official.

OUTLINES HIS REASONS

Not Penalty for Opposition to County Board's Program, He Declares.

E. N. Detrick, assistant state director of education, today flatly declared that the Marion township school district will not receive state educational funds if its one-room schools are operated as such next term.

Mr. Detrick's statement was made in a telephone conversation with a reporter for The Star this morning, following reports that he had told members of two Marion county rural school boards that the one-room schools will receive state funds.

State funds will not be available for Marion township schools, Mr. Detrick said, because they have not been approved by the state department of education and the state board of control.

Approval was withheld, according to Mr. Detrick, because the schools do not conform to requirements relating to average daily attendance and other school qualifications.

Explains Reasons.

Mr. Detrick was emphatic in declaring that the disapproval of the Marion township schools was not a result of opposition to a proposed consolidation of county schools, which recently was voted by the county board of education.

Efforts now under way to block the proposed re-districting have nothing to do with the withholding of state funds from Marion township, Mr. Detrick said. He cited a section of the Ohio general code, which was quoted as follows in a recent opinion by the attorney-general of Ohio:

"The director of education is not, by virtue of the provisions of section 7503-16, general code, empowered to withhold from a school district funds distributable to it from the public school fund as provided by law, simply because the electors residing in the district, or some portion of those electors, refuse or fail to cooperate in the making of transfers of school territory to conform to a plan of organization for the county school district of which it is a part or to which it is contiguous."

The state director, Mr. Detrick said, is empowered to withhold.

Playground Tag Day Plans Made for Tomorrow

Equipment Fund To Be Collected in Marion and Prospect.

Preparations were completed today for "tag day" in Marion and Prospect Saturday to raise funds to purchase equipment for the playgrounds operated under the federal WPA recreational project.

Crews of workers will be stationed on corners in the uptown business district in Marion and in the Prospect business district and other crews will canvass the residential districts and business houses.

The "day" in Marion will be in charge of Miss Jean Drake, supervisor of the girls' playground program, and in Prospect Mrs. Nora Herr will head the committee on arrangements.

The money raised Saturday will be used to purchase needed equipment for the four playgrounds in Marion and the one in Prospect to augment supplies already furnished by the federal government.

The National Youth Administration is co-sponsor of the Marion tag day and will participate in the proceeds. The sales squads will be composed of girls leaders in the playground program, a number of children, and parents who have volunteered their services.

The tags will be in the form of small rosettes.

A final meeting of all Marion tag sales people will be held at 7:30 tonight at the Y. M. C. A. Martin Verburg, general supervisor of the playground program in the county, and Miss Drake will outline final instructions. No goal has been set but it is hoped that several hundred dollars will be raised in Marion city alone to finance the purchase of equipment for the three city parks and the Marion Steam Show Co. recreation field.

A fifth playground probably will be set up on the north end of the Harding High school athletic field if the amount of money raised reaches expectations, Mr. Verburg said.

View of Heat Explosion Damage To Claridon Township Highway

A sample of the heat explosion that damaged nine sections of Marion county highways and others in Union and Crawford counties Wednesday and Thursday is shown in the accompanying photograph. This break occurred on state route 95 east of Claridon yesterday afternoon, breaking the concrete pavement the entire width of the road.

Clyde Porterfield, in charge of state highway department maintenance work in Marion county, is shown standing at the break with a red flag in hand to warn motorists pending arrival of a repair crew. The workmen removed a strip of the broken concrete and patched the break with an asphalt preparation.

The breaks in Marion and Union counties and the danger of similar upheavals on other roadways yesterday prompted John Jester Jr., state highway director, to caution motorists. He warned of the danger of explosions breaking under vehicles and of motorists unexpectedly running into broken sections.

In such an explosion Thursday, an eight-foot section of North Greenwood street was torn up and an automobile driven by Robert Cane of Marion was bounced on the pavement.

This year's outbreaks, caused by expansion of pavement due to the heat, recalled to highway department officials an explosion in Crawford county six years ago that threw an automobile into the air approximately 12 feet and injured the driver.

In addition to the actual explosions, highway crews reported there are numerous "bulges" in highways and city streets caused by the heat. Further expansion probably will result in explosions at these points, they said.

Believe it or not, that is what Mike Ullmer has on his farm in Richmond township six miles south of Marion. A sample stalk was brought into the city today as evidence of the Ullmer crop, believed to be the highest in Ohio.

There are 14 acres of the Frank crop, not all eight feet but averaging somewhere around that figure. Mr. Ullmer has two other fields of corn, one five acres and the other eight, which are also unusually good stands but nearer the average for this stage of the growing season, when corn is regarded as progressing well if it fills more than knee-high.

The 14-acre field was planted May 1 and its remarkable development has resulted from good fertilizer and seed and efficient cultivation.

Whether the corn yield will be in proportion to the stalk growth remains to be seen. Farmers who have viewed the field believe it likely to produce a substantial crop.

OHIO DEATHS MOUNT TO 28 THREE DROWN

Mercury Here Hits 100 at 2:30 P. M., One Degree Below High of Thursday.

LAST NIGHT'S LOW 75

Mahla Stafford, Caledonia

Heat Victim, Out of Danger; Thomas Moore Stricken.

Heat harassed residents of Marion and the state can expect no relief from the blistering temperatures for at least another two days, the weathermen predicted today as the mercury again headed toward the 100-degree mark. Since Tuesday 25 deaths in Ohio have been attributed to the excessive heat. The Associated Press reported, Three of them were by drowning.

The temperature here stood at 100 at 2:30 p. m. and had stood at approximately the same level since noon. At 1 p. m. the government thermometer stood between 98 and 100. Generally fair and continued warm tonight and Saturday is the forecast for the immediate future.

Record Shattered.

Season records were shattered in Marion yesterday when the mercury soared to 101 in the afternoon. Yesterday's low was 75. Dr. E. H. Radtke, a health officer here, reported, A weight of 85 and a low of 64 were recorded a year ago.

The heat affected many Marion residents yesterday, most of them slightly and not enough to require medical attention, but Thomas Moore of 258 South Prospect street was taken seriously ill. Mr. Moore, about 80, and a former employee of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., was stricken at his home and a physician was called. The physician said that although he regarded Mr. Moore's condition as serious, he was permitted to be up and around the home and seemed better this morning.

Mahla Stafford of north of Caledonia who suffered a sunstroke yesterday while at work on the Erie railroad tracks west of Caledonia, is out of danger today. The attending physician said, and may be moved from the city hospital to his home Saturday.

Mr. Stafford, son of Mrs. Fern Oehler of near Caledonia, was unconscious when brought to the hospital and regained consciousness last night. His condition was reported to be good this morning.

He was taken ill while at work with a crew from the Drainage Engineering Co. of Middletown, engaged in right-of-way work on the Erie tracks near Route 95.

Small Area Gets Rain.

Rain just north of Columbus checked at least temporarily the torrid wave in Ohio's sun-scorching capital today after the temperature reached 100.

Weather bureau officials said heavy clouds dropped the temperature four degrees in that city and at Port Columbus forced the reading from a high of 101 to 91 degrees within an hour. Airway weather observers reported "a good rain" falling in the area from Worthington to Westerville, north of Columbus.

By noon today the official thermometer readings in several parts of the state were higher than the noon readings of yesterday, indicating the possibility of record breaking temperatures later in the day.

Weatherman Ralph C. Blize at Cleveland brought no encouragement with the statement "it looks as if this heat would last for some time. But heat is harder to predict than cold or rain."

Cleveland topped the state's death toll with eight victims, six blamed by heat and one by drowning. Three deaths were recorded at Cincinnati, two by heat and one by drowning. One heat death each was reported from Bryan, Alliance, Fremont, Toledo, Youngstown and Iron, Henderson and Lorain.

Deaths were added when Clio McKinney, 29, was drowned in Eagle Creek, near Warren, today. He had gone swimming at 2 a. m.

Brief rainstorms were reported last night east of Bowling Green, which recorded an all-time high of 108.5 degrees, and at Eaton, Proboscis county seat. They gave no promise, however, of snapping scorching temperatures.

Springfield yesterday was the hottest place in the state at 99 degrees. Tiffin's 107 was a new all-time high. Wilmington had 106. Columbus, Youngstown and Kenton were bunched at 105. Youngstown's mark equaled the all-time record.

15 Cities 100 or Better.

At least 18 Ohio cities recorded 100 or better. Street readings in many cases were five to 10 degrees above official marks.

Lorain water works engineers averted a serious water shortage when they succeeded in repairing a burned out bearing in a reserve pump which had been carrying the full load while extensive repairs were being made on their regular pumping unit.

When the reserve pump stopped, a battery of electric pumps then stepped in.

BABE RESCUED FROM CISTERN

18-Month-Old Girl Revived After Workmen Pull Her to Safety.

Eighteen-month-old Darlene Elizabeth Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Thompson of 165 Scio street, tumbled into an eight-foot cistern about 1:30 p. m. today at the home of a neighbor.

Apparently the only injury she suffered was a bad bump on the head.

Firemen from Stations 1 and 2 worked over the child for 15 minutes, using artificial respiration, before she regained consciousness after being rescued by men who were working nearby.

The child fell into three feet of water when loose boards covering the cistern gave way. The well-sinking nearby saw her fall and had rescued her in a few minutes.

The men turned in a fire alarm from the box at Cuyahoga and West Center streets, bringing firemen from both stations 1 and 2. While several of the firemen were going to the Central station for an inhalator, others started artificial respiration and the child had responded to the treatment before the inhalator was brought. A physician was called to examine the child for injuries, which it is believed were confined entirely to the bump on the head.

Hot, So Farmers Work at Midnight

Men in Wheat Fields Near Waldo Find Way To "Beat the Heat."

A practical demonstration of how to "beat the heat" down on the farm was given last night on the Grover C. Snyder farm in Waldo township.

Two workmen are engaged in cutting and shucking wheat. The sun's rays were a little too much for them yesterday as they knocked off in the afternoon and returned to the fields at midnight to shuck by moonlight.

Usually it is impossible to cut wheat at night because of the dampness but during the last few days the sun-scorching fields have remained dry at night and those who want to cut by the light of the moon will find it possible to do so. Many farmers have equipped their implements with lights and it is not uncommon for them to do some of their work at night during the spring months. County Farm Agent S. L. Anderson said, Mr. Snyder, whose farm is located on the Norton-Ashley road, said his workmen probably will continue their "night work" as long as the heat wave lasts.

Through Sunday, at least, they said, generally fair weather and abnormal warmth would prevail.

Almost in a man, the corn belt planters turned to the national crop report in two years. There the government was ready to publish the first comprehensive report of 1936 drought devastation in its July estimate of the condition of food and feed raised in the land.

The menace of famine spread. The worst fire in many years raged through the Black Hills region near Sundance, Wyo. Livestock, game and thousands of acres of valuable timber were destroyed. Stockmen feared cattle and horses had perished in the inferno.

Two confagurations of serious proportions attacked the woodlands of upper Michigan. Hundreds of men, plows, pumps and hoes were rushed to the front.

MERCURY LINE SOARS TOWARD NEW PINNACLE

PREVIOUS MARKS TO FALL

Early Readings Today Top Those Registered for Similar Period Thursday.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Temperatures traveled towards new high marks today as terrific heat broiled most of the nation and no relief was sighted for at least two days.

The early afternoon, the death list reached 331, and crop losses which no one has been able to estimate accurately, continued to mount toward a possible fabulous sum.

"Some possibility" of light, scattered showers by Sunday was seen for the Dakotas and parts of Illinois and Nebraska, but weather observers said it would serve only to lower temperatures in those states.

Reports from across more than half the nation indicated temperatures would soar beyond yesterday's blistering marks, which hung up all time maximum records in many places.

Topping yesterday's marks.

Almost every reporting point showed early temperature readings higher than those of yesterday.

But the torrid sun was not the only weather scourge. Rural fires swept thousands of rich timberland, while some states suffered from lightning and hail storms.

Showers fell in the south during the night, but they were insufficient to affect the long drought. Temperatures there, however, were less severe than in the east and middle west.

Indiana felt the heat and dry weather, with temperatures above 100 in Ontario, while western Canada registered in the 100's.

In the nation's major grain trading markets corn reached the four cent limit allowed late in the morning. July, at 85 cents a bushel, was a new high in Chicago for the year.

Wheat, oats and rye prices also advanced more than two cents a bushel upon receipt of additional crop damage reports.

Headings of 104 at Toronto, Ont., and 103 at New York City, and 102 at Beranton, Pa., established new all-time highs yesterday. Washington's 104 was the highest since July 20, 1930.

Many Prostrations.

Scores of prostrations were reported in urban centers as thousands of hurried residents slept in parks, on fire escapes and at benches.

But meteorologists warned they could foresee no break in the hot wave or no general rain to halt the drought that has already resulted in crop losses estimated at more than $300,000,000, affected between 3,000,000 and 5,000,000 farm families, and made 204,000 of them dependent upon the government for a livelihood.

Through Sunday, at least, they said, generally fair weather and abnormal warmth would prevail.

Almost in a man, the corn belt planters turned to the national crop report in two years. There the government was ready to publish the first comprehensive report of 1936 drought devastation in its July estimate of the condition of food and feed raised in the land.

Dicky and Madge Clash As She Tells Plan to See Mrs. Congrove Immediately.

IT was one of the hardest things I ever have done to reply respectfully to Dicky as he said half-jocularly half in earnest, that there would be no jaunt to the Catskills for us, that we were going home where we belonged as soon as I had told him what I had insisted upon telling to him.

But from somewhere I summoned up the necessary courage to say quietly in the fashion that Dicky knows is a symbol of an irrevocable decision with me:

"I am sorry, Dicky, but you must do as you please—and so must I. It is absolutely necessary that I go up to see Mrs. Congrove today or tonight, for it will be night when I get there."

"You won't go in this car," he shouted. "And you won't—"

"I don't need to," I countered smoothly, but with a feeling of actual physical illness gripping me. "Fortunately I have plenty of money with me. I can get a conveyance to the nearest railway station, and there are plenty of trains from here to New York, and trains and buses up there."

With a muttered angry objurgation, Dicky put out his hand to the switch key, but I had anticipated his action, and my hand was quicker than his, as I snatched the key from its lock, and dropped it inside my dress.

"Give me that key," he said hoarsely.

"If you will permit me to get out of the car first," I retorted. "I'll see you—"

"You probably will," I said, for the controversy was now proceeding along familiar lines, and I knew what his probable moves in the game would be, and how I could checkmate them.

"But I'm going to tell you now that you will not get this key unless I have your promise to permit me to get out when we come to a railroad station."

"I suppose," he said, with lofty frigidity, "that if I do start the car, you're prepared to jump out."

"Your supposition is correct," I told him with equally dignified calmness.

Amused in Anger

"The worst of it is that you really would do it, you little devil," he said with amusement, tempering his patent anger. "I should have let you go down that quiet road, I could have gagged and tied you up, put you under a blanket in the rear and taken you home."

"But you didn't accept my suggestion, fortunately for me," I told him demurely, "but I do hope you will listen to what I have to tell you, I warn you that you're going to be terribly angry at me, but I can't help that. I must tell you now. I should have told you long ago."

"Long ago," he exploded. "What is this, anyway?"

"If you'll only listen," I said, and again he gave a short laugh.

"Oh, I'll listen," he said. "This promises to be interesting."

He settled back in his seat, and folding his arms looked somberly ahead of him along the road.

"This story goes back a long way," I said, "back to the time of Robert Savarin's death, do you remember?"

Dicky furrowed his brow. "Of course I remember," he growled. "Nothing would do you and Lil but that she must go up there and hold that old dodo's hand while he made his final exit from this world of woe. I'll tell you now that I wouldn't have been so good about the thing as old Harry was."

"I'd have seen you in the hat place with any former sweetheart before I'd have let you go to smooth his dying pillow. But Harry's a bigger man than I am, also a better one, and so he took Lil and you up there and left you."

"But what has that to do with this particular billing of flesh? Was he also in love with you, by any chance, and did he also have to slings an eternal farewell with you?"

Warning Against Dog Bites Issued by Health Official

With the "dog days" at hand Dr. N. Sifflit, county health commissioner, today issued a warning on the irritability of dogs and danger of rabies.

Dogs become overheated just as easily as other animals but do not have the ability, owing to their anatomical structure, to perspire. The health commissioner pointed out. The only thing they can do is relax, pant and lather at the mouth when overheated or excited. When teased and bothered at such times, especially by strangers, they are very apt to bite, Dr. Sifflit said.

Children or adults bitten by dogs are urged to report to Dog Warden Elmer Ollom, who can be reached at the county commissioner's office. He will take the dog under observation and with the cooperation of the county health department determine whether the animal is afflicted with rabies. Only a very small percentage of biting dogs are rabid, but since any bite may be followed by dangerous infection, all dog bites should be treated as soon as possible after the bite, Dr. Sifflit explained. He cautioned against having a dog bite after it bites a person. The dog should be given to the dog warden for observation, so that if the bite is infectious the wound can be treated properly.

All bites from stray dogs should be reported and if the animal cannot be found the victim should be given the proper treatment as a precautionary measure.

Information on treatment and care of dogs during hot weather will be furnished by the county health department upon request.

Big Park Project Awaiting Go Signal in Southern Ohio

By The Associated Press.

While other portions of the state keep after the legislature and governor to build lakes for them the people of Clinton county have gone and built a park.

Woodruff said today, when the Clinton county park project in Clinton county is completed.

The "go ahead" on the project is being developed for completion of certain details in the works progress administration at Washington.

Once begun, the park should be completed within a year, Woodruff estimated.

The state conservation council has asked the state board of control to appropriate $100,000 for the project. Clinton county already has voted $50,000 worth of bonds.

The park will consist of 2,140 acres, 770 of which will be the lake proper. A dam, 350 feet long and about 60 feet high will be built across the Cuyahoga creek valley to form the lake. Southwestern Ohio does not have a large lake now.

The conservation commissioner praised Clinton counties for co-operating in the project.

Residents of Marion and vicinity are "taking to the water" as a means of seeking relief from the scorching heat of the last few days.

Attendance at the Crystal Lake swimming pool Wednesday and Thursday broke records of several years standing. C. E. Merkel, manager, reported today. More than 2,000 people took advantage of the cooling waters in those two days.

Attendance each day, Mr. Merkel said, was better than any one day last year, including the usual Sunday and holiday business. A large number of swimmers remained at the pool last night until the 10 o'clock closing hour.

The water in the lake has never been better, Mr. Merkel said. The manager attributed the increased attendance this year not only to the heat but to "better times."

"People appear to have more money to spend for swimming and for pleasure," he commented.

MURDER TONIGHT
BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

Mr. Durley fished about in his voluminous clothing and produced a small black-covered book which he threw on the counter.
"Mr. God, the constable's notebook," Farnshaw cried in incredulous delight. "How the hell did you get that, Tired Tim?"

Where the back lane comes down from the big yellow house where the old gent was killed—here blundered Farnshaw, not getting his head up with that lot of Gaudy Alamy's sake.
"Ah, right, don't get excited, Durley, but—"

Huber Wins Eighth Straight Commercial League Game

THE SPORT SPOTLIGHT

Huber Wins Eighth Straight Commercial League Game

To the untrained eye, the game of football should be a simple one. It is a game of brute force and power. But to those who have given their attention to the game, it is a game of strategy and skill. It is a game that has captured the imagination of the American people and has become a part of our national life.

Only six umpires are officially registered with the Commercial League. The official umpiring staff includes: Howard Williams, Paul Rice, Melvin Bechtel, Guy Miller, Ted Greenwood and Harry Harbin.

Huber's Commercial League team added its eighth consecutive victory to the season by defeating the Prospect team 10-0 in the second game of the season. The game was played at the Lincoln Park stadium and was a complete rout for Huber.
